O Lord SrI rAma! O My father! O Lord of the Universe! O Enemy of khara the demon!

How long shall I look forward for You in my mind? How shall I spend time?

1. Surrendering my mind to You alone, I reared this as Your body.
2. In the Earth, I remained desiring performance of actions; but what I thought of was a different path.
3. I too shall keep playing (my role in) the puppet show like everyone else in this world.
- 4 & 5. Should You expose my inner secrets in the midst of others? It may be alright only for those who enjoy music; but it will be a joke for those utter triflers.
6. May be, You are present among earlier devotees. Won't You come? Does it involve any expenditure of Your wealth?
7. Why this much of unconcern? Please do not find further faults with me.
8. How much tears shall I shed? By complaining to whom, my grief will be relieved?
9. This body is born for You alone; please do not miss it; Your grace is sufficient.
10. Is my desiring (You) itself wrong? Please do not have that behaviour.
11. Is there a wretch like me in the World who does not understand the secrets of this kali age?
12. I have abused You many a times; I am now experiencing that result.
13. Is it possible that the effect of previous actions would not have effect on one? However, can these remain without being relieved by the light of devotion?
- 14 & 15. Those who have been earning their livelihood by selling flowers, will not come to sell fire-wood even if invited; (if I stoop so,) wouldn't that be slighting You? Won't You abandon Your thoughts of deceiving me?
16. I only have a name that this tyAgarAja belongs to You.

Notes –

Variations –

³ – rAvO – rAvu : rAvO - is the appropriate word.

General – In some books, caraNas 2 and 3 are interchanged; caraNas 9 and 14 are interchanged. caraNas 14 and 15 should come together – in order to derive coherent meaning.

References –

⁵ – khara – One of the demons associated with SURpaNakhA who was killed by SrI rAma in the battle at daNDaka forest.

Comments –

² - nEnu nI mEnani pencinAnu – This can also be translated as 'Considering myself to be Your body, I reared it'. This will accord with the principle of viSishTAdvaita wherein the whole manifested universe is considered as the body of the Supreme Lord. Please refer to -

<http://www.ramanuja.org/sv/bhakti/archives/may98/0061.html>

⁴ – A culukana – From the example of 'a flower vendor will not deign to sell fire-wood even if invited', it seems that SrI tyAgarAja is refusing to adopt any path other than devotion; if he changes his path, it would be slighting the Lord even though He is delaying His grace. This is further substantiated by caraNa 2, wherein SrI tyAgarAja states 'while I am pursuing the path of action, what I thought was different' and caraNa 3 wherein he states that 'while I shall continue to play the puppet show like anyone else, but in my mind, how long shall I look forward to You?'
